Newhaven Outreach Provision

- Staff Profile

My name is: Dom Fisher

My pronouns are: She/her

My job is: Head of Newhaven Outreach provision

The best part of my job is: Getting to know the students and their families/support networks, working with them to figure out what they want/need, then helping them to reach their goals. We are always working towards students moving on from us with heightened confidence, improved wellbeing and skills for life.

Things I enjoy doing in my free time:

I am a local busy Mum of three children; my entire family are a delicious neuro-diverse smorgasbord - life is hectic and wonderful all at once! I am currently planning my wedding on a beautiful beach in Devon for in a few years time.

I have lots of medical conditions (I collect autoimmune diseases like they're Pokemon cards!), so spend some of my down time sleeping, resting, watching good TV dramas and chilling with my gorgeous tribe of humans and animals.

When I was younger I gained a Masters degree in drama, Avant Garde theatre and opera. I studied at Kent University, winning with an international year at Indiana University (USA) and placement at Moscow Arts School (Russia), further fuelling my love of travelling. I enjoy all things creative, from watching live theatre to performing with my Show tunes choir, doodling during a meeting to painting a picture or plant pot - you don't have to be good to enjoy Art!

I'm passionate about:

I'm a passionate advocate and ally for disability, neurodiversity, LGBTQ+, human rights and animal rights. Having been raised as a young carer, I started volunteering with children with Autism when I was 10 years old. When I got older I had the opportunity to volunteer with children in the Tamil Nadu district of India in orphanages, slums and with 'street children'. Volunteering cemented my passion for supporting people to develop vital self-advocacy skills. These incredibly important skills are fundamental to the Newhaven Outreach offer, as this is a life long skill everyone needs to ensure their needs are met.

I love all animals (except for earwigs - they freak me out!); I have a pet dog called Humbug (Outreach's therapy dog), two cats called Ringo and McCartney, an aquatic Pygmy frog called Flippers and too many freshwater tropical fish to name (I breed Guppies, Platties and Mollies who give birth to live 'fry' (baby fish).

I adore plants, flowers and candles—spending time surrounded by nature and beauty fills up my soul. 💙
